MALT PRODUCTS CORP. EARNS EIGHTH CONSECUTIVE “SUPERIOR” FOOD SAFETY RATING

Dayton, OH – For the eighth consecutive year, the American Institute of Baking’s (AIB) Department of Food Safety/Hygiene has awarded its “Superior” food safety rating to Malt Products Corporation’s production facility in Dayton, OH. Food ingredient suppliers, such as Malt Products, who participate in the in-plant audit program undergo a complete examination and receive technical assistance in all areas that affect product integrity, regulatory exposure and pesticide use.

Many food processors require AIB audits of their suppliers’ production facilities. Audit ratings denote that company’s level of compliance with food safety regulations as well as its commitment to providing safe, high quality food products to producers.

A comprehensive overview includes program criteria used by AIB to evaluate a processor's food safety program. These criteria are based on guidelines of the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act, the Good Manufacturing Practices (GMPs), and the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act.

In order to be rated "Superior" a company's audit rating must be above 900. AIB audits the adequacy of the company's food safety programs, pest control, operational methods, personnel practices and maintenance for food safety and cleaning practices.

"We're extremely proud to have earned our eighth consecutive "Superior" rating," stated Joe Hickenbottom, Vice President, Sales and Marketing of Malt Products. "It's a testament to the diligence of our staff and their commitment to the highest food safety standards."
